WARWICK SCOTT HIT BY MACHINE; INJURED

Local Man Coming from Church is Struck Broadside by Fast-Moving Machine

Warwick Scott of 1169 North Central avenue, was struck last evening by an auto driven by a man named Morton, at the corner of Second avenue and Monroe street, and severely injured.

Scott had just left the First Methodist church and was walking across the street to get into his own car when the driver of the machine cut across the street, it is alleged, in violation of the traffic regulations, and struck Scott.

The unfortunate man was hurled to the ground and rolled several feet, sustaining severe bruises and a bad shaking up.

C. T. Hirst picked Mr. Scott up and loaded him into his machine and hurried him to his home.

At a late hour last night a report from Mr. Scott's home had it that the injured man was resting as comfortably as could be expected, and, barring the unforeseen, would be out in a day or two.

ARIZONA ALFALFA COMING INTO OWN

Local Man Returns From Expedition to East Where He Looks Over Seed Situation

Marshall Humphrey of the Phoenix Feed & Seed company, returned yesterday from a four weeks' trip through the middle west and east. Humphrey was sent by his company in an endeavor to educate eastern dealers in alfalfa seed, on the benefits and value of seed raised in the valley.

While away Mr. Humphrey visited Wichita, Kansas City, Louisville, Cincinnati, Washington, D. C., New York City, Richmond, Atlanta and New Orleans.

In all of these cities he talked with dealers in alfalfa seed. In practically every place he learned that for some time there has been a prejudice against alfalfa seed raised in irrigated sections. Even the government had taken it upon itself to state in bulletins issued by the department of agriculture that seed raised in an irrigated section would not do well in the east and south where irrigation is not indulged in.

Humphrey went to great pains to separate them from this theory and explained to them that all seed raised in this valley was grown on the second or third crop, and without benefit of water. He succeeded in proving this to the department of agriculture and they agreed in the future to cut out their damaging references to irrigated alfalfa seed.

It was also learned that such seed when raised under proper conditions is very popular in the middle west and in great demand. He found that much of the Arizona seed is sold to middle west dealers, who then resold it to dealers in the east. In this manner, they were boosting prices, but the Arizona growers are not getting their share of the high price. It was Mr. Humphrey's mission to find suitable markets in the east, and in this he was eminently successful.

In Washington, at the department of agriculture he found that they were discouraging farmers planting foreign alfalfa seed. Particular stress is being laid on the fact that Turkestan seed, used extensively here some time ago, is not suited to this country. The department promised to do considerable experimenting with Arizona seed, in sections where alfalfa raising is being encouraged. Humphrey found that where a few years ago, it was thought impractical to raise alfalfa farther east than Kansas now it is being raised in all of the states of the east.

With the elimination of the European seed the market for Salt River Valley seed is bound to be unusually good. Another reason for this is that the crop in the United States last year was unusually short.
